Yunnan - White Water Terrace

SHANGHAI

Don't miss the Propaganda Poster Art Centre in the French Concession. It's a fascinating insight into the communist agenda during the Chairman Mao era. Plus, if you like what you see, the gift shop sells reproduction prints from only $50. The perfect souvenir!

BEIJING

For nearly 2000 years, the classical buildings of the Bell Tower and Drum Tower were used to advise the locals of the time, a bell for the dawn and a drum at dusk. Pay $5 to climb to the top of the two-storey Drum Tower for great views over the traditional hutong area of the city.

Day 2 Shanghai

This morning starts with a visit to the Bund. The Bund is one of Shanghai's most famous historical areas. Afterwards, continue onto Yu Yuan Gardens and the adjoining Chinatown. Yu Garden is a famous classical garden located in Anren Jie, Shanghai. It was finished building in 1577 by a government officer of the Ming Dynasty (1368-1644) named Pan Yunduan. It is one of the most famous gardens in China and is national heritage listed. Each section of the garden is separated by curved white walls crowned with the head and body of a dragon. It's named after the original owner. China Town is one of must-see attractions when visiting Shanghai. The complex consists of tourist and shopping areas. Folk culture widely circulated inside and outside the old town is rich and colorful. Despite Shanghai's rapid development, China Town, the old town of Shanghai, a harmonious combination of ancient and modern civilization, will still record the glorious chapters in the history of the development of Shanghai city.

Xintiandi is composed of an area of reconstituted traditional mid-19th century shikumen ("stone gate") houses on narrow alleys, some adjoining houses which now serve as book stores, cafes and restaurants, and shopping malls. Most of the cafes and restaurants feature both indoor and outdoor seating. Xintiandi has an active nightlife on weekdays as well as weekends, though romantic settings are more common than loud music and dance places. It is considered one of the first lifestyle centers in China. It is also the most expensive place to live in China, with some apartments costing more than Tokyo, New York and London. It is home to the Chinese elite and top executive expats.

After lunch, you will cross the river to visit the Shanghai World Financial Centre. A magnificent addition to the Pudong Skyline, The Shanghai World Financial Centre stands at 492m and boasts the world's highest observation deck.

After dinner, enjoy the acrobatic show.

Overnight in Shanghai.

Day 3 Shanghai - Suzhou

After breakfast, you will depart for the town of Suzhou. Suzhou is famous for its silk production, canals and gardens. The gardens in Suzhou are real works of art, a fusion of nature, architecture, poetry and painting designed to ease, move and assist the mind. The Humble Administrator's Garden is the largest garden in Suzhou and the most famous and representative of Suzhou's gardens. Within the garden walls, there are lots of great sights, filled with history and legends. Visit the silk spinning factory to see the process of getting silk cocoons to threads. After lunch, visit the Garden of Master of Nets, situated in the southern part of Suzhou. It is one of the smallest (a little over one acre) yet considered one of the best designed and most elegant of the private gardens still in existence.

Day 4 Suzhou - Hangzhou

This morning starts with a visit to the Bund. The Bund is one of Shanghai's most famous historical areas. Afterwards, continue onto Yu Yuan Gardens and the adjoining Chinatown. Yu Garden is a famous classical garden located in Anren Jie, Shanghai. It was finished building in 1577 by a government officer of the Ming Dynasty (1368-1644) named Pan Yunduan. It is one of the most famous gardens in China and is national heritage listed. Each section of the garden is separated by curved white walls crowned with the head and body of a dragon. It's named after the original owner. China Town is one of must-see attractions when visiting Shanghai. The complex consists of tourist and shopping areas. Folk culture widely circulated inside and outside the old town is rich and colorful. Despite Shanghai's rapid development, China Town, the old town of Shanghai, a harmonious combination of ancient and modern civilization, will still record the glorious chapters in the history of the development of Shanghai city. Xintiandi is composed of an area of reconstituted traditional mid-19th century shikumen ("stone gate") houses on narrow alleys, some adjoining houses which now serve as book stores, cafes and restaurants, and shopping malls. Most of the cafes and restaurants feature both indoor and outdoor seating. Xintiandi has an active nightlife on weekdays as well as weekends, though romantic settings are more common than loud music and dance places. It is considered one of the first lifestyle centers in China. It is also the most expensive place to live in China, with some apartments costing more than Tokyo, New York and London. It is home to the Chinese elite and top executive expats.

After lunch, you will cross the river to visit the Shanghai World Financial Centre. A magnificent addition to the Pudong Skyline, The Shanghai World Financial Centre stands at 492m and boasts the world's highest observation deck.
